

Stalag 7A in Moosburg, Germany. He suffered inhumane conditions that tested his will to survive.

Mayberry fondly remembered the American tank of the 14th Armored Division that smashed through the gate, liberating the camp on April 29, 1945. Nearly 70 years after liberation, it was still emotional for Mayberry to talk about the experience of seeing the Stars and Stripes replace the Nazi flag at the camp. Two days later, Mayberry saw General George Patton who had come to survey the conditions of the camp.

Mayberry didn't receive any treatment for his injuries until he was examined by a flight surgeon on his way to France, a staging area for soldiers heading home.

After the war, Staff Sergeant Walter Mayberry lived a long, fulfilling life speaking about and writing a book on his experiences, his faith, and his love of country. He regularly participated at Veterans Day parades, Memorial Day programs, and many other civic events in and around Harrison. Sadly, Boots passed away on July 25, 2018 at the age of 94.

Mayberry was a member of the Greatest Generation and a patriot dedicated to serving his country. He was an American hero who will be missed. I extend my sincere condolences to his family and friends, and I hope that they find comfort in the incredible legacy of service and patriotism that Boots leaves behind.●
